In These Challenging Economic Times...

Would it help to eliminate the high costs of repetitive entry-level 'Help Wanted' ads?

Would it make sense to free up your skilled workers' time by assigning simpler tasks to an entry-level worker, even for just a few hours a week?

Would you benefit if SOMEONE ELSE paid for TWO WEEKS of entry-level labor BEFORE you extended a job offer? Think of it like a 'working interview.'**

Would you like to save time & money with free orientation assistance & supervision when training a new employee?

Would you like to find out if your business qualifies for bottom line tax credits & limited time employment grants to help cover initial training costs?***

* Internship paid by Lifeworks. Employers are under no obligation except to offer the job seeker an honest performance review and consideration for any open and appropriate positions.

**Businesses must qualify for tax credits and training grants.
